* FINISHES - In case of doubts do not hesitate to ask Steven to come with his showroom models to show you the differences

	BS01: BRASS: polished solid brass - a glossy finish
	BS02: AGED BRASS: solid brass aged to an antique brass finish: aged to create the look of an used object which carries traces of time.
	BZ01: BRONZE: solid brass with a light brown patina : parts that are regularly touched will wear off and become lighter, other parts will gradually darken over time. This patina has an elegant light brown color and makes the object shine a bit more.
	BZ02: BRONZE: solid brass with a very dark patina sometimes almost black, visible brass on the edge. To give it more depth it is finished with a layer of wax. Parts that are regularly touched will wear off and become lighter, other parts will gradually darken over time
	BZ03: Bronze similar to BZ02 but has more a very dark grey look, similar as vintage patina, dark bronze waxed less brass coming through
	AL01: Aluminium polished to a glossy finish
* TEXTURES
These are all done by hand, and therefore always a bit different
	H01: Hammered by hand on the side
	H02: Hammered by hand on all side
	C01: Carved, the deep carvings create a rough surface which is very tactile and in patinated objects it creates a clear difference in color between the deeper darker parts and the lighter surface. Looks like deep hammering.
	C02: Carved on the side , deep elongated carvings create a striped pattern which resembles the bark of a tree
	C03: Carved on all sides , deep elongated carvings create a striped pattern which resembles the bark of a tree
